0,4kW DENT REMOVER

Teknel DragonFly is an innovative product, useful for removing small and medium dents on the car body, for example dents caused by hail. Thanks to INDUCTION technology, the accessory touches lightly the car body, heating it and pulling the dent in few seconds without damaging the paint; this means that you don't need to paint the car body again. It's easy to use thanks to its power regulator.

It's possible to work up to a distance of 6 metres, thanks to the long power cable and long accessory cable. (They have both a length of 3 metres). It's easy to transport because it's small and very light (it weighs only 4 kilos) and has a strong stainless steel handle. Besides the button to start the induction is situated directly on the accessory, so that you can work even in the most difficult places without the need of moving repeatedly a pedal button.
